

Lost in Confusion (1/7/06)

What have we done in the name of faith?
How have we used your name in vain?
We're so concerned about living in the right (that we've)
Lost our will, don't want any pain

O Lord, please help the way I'm feeling tonight
I'm having some trouble knowing what's wrong and what's right
I'm lost in confusion, need to step outside of me
And learn somehow to love again.

The Good Book says this and the Good Book says that
It seems we get to pick and choose
But when I decide who is right and who is wrong
It seems that we all lose (refrain)

So teach me now the joy of living again
To love the world that you have made
To see the world in colors so complex
And let my will begin to fade (refrain)

People are always looking to win, whether it be at the lottery or the game of life. Being a Christian often feels like it is the protection against bad things. This is not true, and in fact, is quite wrong. Living one's life and bearing witness to Christ will often mean our lives will get more difficult. Seeing a world full of rich colors is always more interesting than black and white. This is the beauty of God's love.
