

Remember (Tim Hansen- 10/31/06)

When I walked into the room last night
You asked me, "How was your day?"
I had to think about it for awhile.
I had to find the words to say
    But you know, I'm trying to remember
    You see, it's just so easy to keep moving on
    And forgetting about your love .....and blessing
The clock keeps ticking though its standing still
The days keep rolling on
They're here and then before you know, they're gone
Soon to forget, too soon to stay               (REFRAIN)
    Remember today
    Remember always
    Remember, it's true
    I'll always be with you
So I'm writing down a few words now
To keep you in my mind today
'Cause in remembering...you're present now
Alive in every way.               (REFRAIN)

(tacit)

When I walked into the room last night
You asked me, "How was your day?"

Sometimes when Lisa asks me the question, "How was your day?", I really have to think about it. That scares me. Am I just waltzing through life without investing enough of me? Fortunately there is one who has invested everything in me. Thanks be to God! So, in those moments when I forget, I am not forgotten.